Looking at the News With Col. Hugh Clark

AN American journal thinks it absurd that President Hoover draws a smaller salary than Jackie Coogan. But Jackie can do his stuff better than Hoover could do it, so why should he not be better paid?

A prominent lumberman notes a tendency now toward smaller mills. Ta notices, however, indicate a tendency toward larger mills—on the dollar.

Sean O'Kelly, one of DeValera's lieutenants, declares that what Ireland demands is complete freedom. He talks as if he were still in opposition.

This is a war to resume war after it had been ended for all time by the great war, which saved humanity and civilization, made the world safe for democracy and secure from the aggressions of militaristic autocracies.

War correspondents are as they always were and they are all alike. They tell of commanders "throwing" whole divisions into battle and of their being "hurled" back. All sorts of guns are vomiting destruction. There is a veritable rain of bullets and a hurricane of shells. All the machinery of war is employed in dealing out death and devastation. After telling us what is going on behind the Japanese lines he tells what is going on at the same time behind the Chinese lines. He himself was almost caught while traversing the zone of fire. The dispatch closes with the casualty list—three dead and seventeen wounded.

Wellington thought that the public liked a "big butcher's bill." That is not it at all, but we do like to have the casualty list bear some relation to the ferocity and intensity of the struggle as depicted by the correspondent. In other words, we don't like anti-climaxes. If they don't wish to increase the butcher's bill, they have the option of reducing the intensity of fire.

Some pacifists purpose stopping the war by walking in between the belligerents and haranguing them. Martin Dooley's scheme was better. When he read that John L. Sullivan was beating his wife he called him up by long distance telephone and gave him a piece of his mind.

The champion hog caller of the United States, explaining his success, says "the voice must carry an appeal which will convince the hog you have something good for it." Candidates in the autumn elections do not need to be told this.

The professor of Oriental languages at McGill, urging the study of Chinese, declares that the language is not difficult to learn because it has no alphabet, no punctuation and no grammar. This information which would have been so welcome in school boy days stirs up nothing but useless regrets.

The Chinese have not been guilty of such atrocities as the Japanese have, says a U.S. newspaper. There's an editor who has not felt the saw-edge of a laundered collar.

"Sorry, Miss, you can't see them—they're in conference," as the door-keeper at Geneva said to the Angel of Peace.

Obituary

Belma Eileen Eamor

Much regret was expressed in this district when the death of Miss Eamor became known.

Deceased young lady, who was only nineteen years of age, was popular among her associates and will be much missed. She was a patient in the local hospital for about two weeks, where she underwent an operation for goitre from which, in spite of medical skill and careful attention, she succumbed on Friday last.

Miss Eamor's mother predeceased her twelve years ago, and the surviving relatives are the father, seven brothers and two sisters, all residing at home excepting two.

The funeral took place from the United Church on Sunday and the large attendance showed regard for deceased and sympathy with those left to mourn.

Floral tributes were exceptionally numerous and beautiful.

Revs. J. N. Brunton, Vulcan, and Farquhar, Brant, conducted the service and interment was made in High land cemetery.

Palbearers were: Geo. Fulton, O. Doane, Chas. Fulton, Clarence Robinson, Clay Snow, Fred McKinnon.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eamor and family wish to extend most grateful thanks, and appreciation of assistance, and kindness shown in our recent sad bereavement; thanks are also tendered for the beautiful floral tributes sent to the funeral. We are also grateful to the staff of the Municipal Hospital and Dr. Burke for their kindness, to our dear daughter and ask them to accept our kindest regards.

WITH THE SCOUTS

The troop is now rehearsing two plays, one an Indian story called "The Owl," the other a comedy called "The Studio." The boys are also working on a Zulu war dance and various displays of troop work which they intend to put on at an early date. The proceeds of these entertainments will be for both troop and camp funds.

Gerald Simington has successfully passed his tenderfoot test; Scout Master Conn congratulated him on high standing and efficiency; he has only been in the troop two weeks and is the only boy to pass with full honors; the credit goes to Assistant Scout Master Elmer Ross who had the training of the new tenderfoot.

The troop is very fortunate in having secured the services of Major Dorrington as drill instructor.

The latest addition to the troop equipment is in the form of three patrol flags made in the patrol colors and carrying the animal emblem for each patrol.

The Wolf Cubs

The wolf cubs held the first meeting Friday, and the boys showed promise of efficiency; those chosen were: Donald Green, Edward Stack, Billy White, Jackie Weigh, Murray Fischer and Jimmie Kettleton. When these boys have passed their tests to the satisfaction of their instructor six more will be enrolled. Cub Master Conn will be assisted in the work of the pack by Albert Collier who will act as assistant Cub Master.

Vulcan High School Plays Stavley Team

On Wednesday and Thursday, the Vulcan High School team assisted by Bill Kaiser, played home and home games with the Stavley team of the Foothills league. Each team won on its home ice, the Vulcan boys however outscored their opponents 13 to 9 on the series. At Vulcan the home boys won 9-4. The game by periods:

First period saw Vulcan with the game well in hand, Bob scoring on a pass from Ferguson; eight minutes later Bob took on the Stavley defence for a game of "here we go round the Mulberry bush," coming from behind the Stavley goal to score and the nearest goal seen on local ice. The gong sounded with Vulcan two up.

Second period, Harry scored on a pass from Allan three minutes after play resumed. Stavely retaliated, Rea scoring unassisted. Bob and Harry ran in two, Bob scoring both on passes from Harry. Stavely added a brace, first Bob Doyle combined with Rea to score, a moment later Anderson scored on a long shot; the period ending Vulcan two up.

The third period opened with Vulcan swarming all over the Stavely defence. Allan, Bob and Harry ran in four goals. First Allan scored on a pass from Bob; Bob scored unassisted; Harry made it nine on a pass from Allan. The best Stavely could do, was a lone score, Rea bulging the net; the score standing 9-4. The game was fast from start to finish, at times not quite as gentle as might be expected, in fact on one occasion two players attempted to massage each other first with sticks and later by hand. However, the bloodshed was nil. The Vulcan boys all worked well. Bob, Allan and Harry were in great form, while Pritchard, King Ottewill and Woodward stood up well against their opponents. The Vulcan defence was good, Jamison, Schenck and Kaiser were never in serious trouble, while Earl in goal played an excellent game. For Stavely Derochie, Flanagan and Rea were the pick. George Seaman was more than busy, but handled the game to the satisfaction of all.

On Thursday, Vulcan journeyed to Stavely, but were turned back by the odd goal scored by Rea just before the final gong sounded. Both teams showed the effect of the game the evening before. Stavely however played a much better game than on Wednesday, while the Vulcan defence was somewhat handicapped by the round corners in the Stavely rink. By periods:

The game opened with the play even, Rea, Anderson and Bob Doyle giving a fine exhibition of combination, which Schenck and Jamison were able to break up. For Vulcan, both forward lines worked well. The Marshall brothers and Harry, have an edge on the Stavely boys, but seemed to have the breaks against them. Bob finally scored on a pass from Allan, the only goal of the period.

In the second period, Stavely forced the play, Rea scoring twice, first on a pass from Anderson and a second unassisted. Rea is a wonderful stick handler and plays his position well. Bob, Allen and Harry opened a fierce attack which netted three goals. Bob scored on an assist from Harry, then Harry, Bob and Allan swamped Derochie, Flanagan and Alex Allan, Harry scoring. Stavely came back, Louis Doyle and Flanagan going through, Doyle scoring.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Alberta District Conference No. 4 held at Lethbridge last week broke all records in point of attendance.

A license fee of $1.00 per cow is being charged by the Innisfail Town Council for all milk dealers.

In discussing discipline at Red Deer high school which referred to destruction of property, smoking and a little pilfering, a member of the school board suggested a "caution" tax, providing that each student deposit one dollar on enrolment against damage to property. The balance after covering all damage would be refunded at the end of the term.

ONE BIG FAMILY

An article in a recent Maclean's presents several arguments for the union of the prairie provinces under one government, eliminating the provincial legislatures. In the current Maclean's, a well known writer goes the whole way to advocate one central government for the nine provinces of Canada, doing away with all provincial governments. This is a large scale proposition, for which few Canadians are prepared.

It is said in justification that one central government was the original idea of Sir John A. Macdonald who said: "If we could have one Parliament legislating for the whole of these peoples, it would be the best, the cheapest, the most vigorous and the strongest system of government we could adopt."

Great as the vision of Sir John A. and the Fathers of Confederation must have been, they could however scarcely have visualized the modern Canada and the diversity of resources which have developed within recent years. Canada is immensely scattered with industries of fishing, mining, lumbering, ranching, farming and manufacturing far greater than were dreamed of in 1867. Its natural topography divides it into two or possibly three distinct parts. Whether a government functioning at Ottawa would press the diversified interests of B. C. and the prairies as persistently as those of Eastern Canada would be a question.

The writer says "to the individual Canadian, it is not important in what province he lives." Few of us are willing to concede so much. Those who live in Alberta have a definite love of their province. They take pride in the institutions which they have helped to build, and to submerge Alberta under a blanket title of "Western Canada" would be something of a concession. Each province has had a distinctive history since its formation, and looks forward to developing along its own lines as a part of Canada.

Hon. Turgeon who suggested the union of the prairie provinces, foresaw many difficulties in the way, and many concessions on the part of all for mutual good. His plan however, had a great measure of economic merit, and since prairie interests are on the whole identical, there seems little reason why there should be very strenuous objection.

Undoubtedly there is a great and costly overlapping in our complicated systems of government. Legislative and Federal departments cover the same work and either co-operate or collide. For instance navigable streams have been regarded as federal business. But with the new business of water power rising superior to navigation, the provinces declare rights on power. Railways have been federal interest, and for that reason the Hudson Bay railway which benefits only the western provinces, becomes a project for which all the nation must pay. The federal railway systems are now in competition with the bus the motor car and the truck, all operating under different provincial restrictions. Provincial rights impinge on federal rights, often to the injury of the nation.

In some respects one central government might have an advantage. In some respects the union at least of the prairie provinces would be of great advantage.

At any rate the present costly system of duplication and overlapping would show that the British North America Act which defines the rights of the dominion and the province should be revised to meet modern requirements.

HOCKEY FUTURE

(From The High River Times)

It is at this season of the year that plans are laid for next year's hockey and there is some discussion on the prospect for senior hockey in the town. The general feeling seems to be much in favor of the continuance of senior hockey. Although this year was unfavorable so far as gate receipts were concerned, it is not expected that the same conditions will prevail indefinitely. There is the anticipation that next year will see better times for the rural supporters who are many in number, and consequently better times in the town. Although the Fliers were not a winning team this season, that is part of the ups and downs of sport, and they gave splendid exhibitions of senior hockey. The town has been educated through the years to fast hockey and expects a senior quality. For this reason, it is to be hoped that from the standpoint of sport entertainment, the senior team will continue to function.

More than this, every secondary team of the town, down to the midgets, takes color from the standards of senior play. They gain great benefit from seeing senior hockey and the style of play which it demands. What they lose as drawing card in gate receipts, they make up for in the standard of game which they have an opportunity of following. There is no doubt that there is a great difference between senior and intermediate hockey. The local intermediate team, considering that it was their first year in that class, held up their end well, and gave fans some smooth, keen games. But, while there were several fine performances in this class, they did not approach the speed and finish of the senior games. Anyone following the contests through the season acknowledges that there is superiority of action in the senior class.

The arrangements involving the southern and northern league play this year, was costly to High River, and probably also to the Miners. But it is hoped that a continuance of the Southern Alberta Senior League will find the Fliers entered for 1933.

GOOD MEN LOST

The news that a number of the men of the R.C.A.F. are being discharged, is of special interest to High River, in view of the fact that we have first hand knowledge of the faithful, valiant service which many of these men have rendered. It occurs to the average person as particularly unfortunate that such numbers of smaller salaried people are being turned out of employment, and cut off from their chosen profession or driven to other lands. This would be a fine opportunity for high salaried heads of organizations and corporations to demonstrate their patriotism by cutting their own salaries to $10,000 a year. Better for the country to give employment to the heads of ten families at $2000 a year than to pay one $20,000 salary.

SUPPOSING

In the spring miracles seem possible. A wave of hope surges through humanity, and life and spirits are on tip toe, keyed for the unexpected and beautiful to happen. In the spring it is pleasant to let the mind dwell on the miracle of renewed prosperity.

Just supposing the power that holds the world enthralled would release its spell, if overnight the locked wheels were set free, new money was turned loose and wheat climbed upward, what a revival would be upon us.

For more than two years now the mass of people have been just getting along. They have been patching and turning, and eking out supplies. They have practiced the noble virtue of thrift which undoubtedly has saved the individual family, but has not benefitted general industry. Now however, everything is getting threadbare, and people have reached the point where supplies must be renewed. There is a tremendous desire to buy, and all that is lacking is the ability, which must be started from higher up.

If ability were tuned to needs, there would be movement in every line. New cars and new accessories would be purchased. Not a household but requires replenishing. New curtains, new upholsterings, new linen, new bed clothes, new household facilities are required. Old clothes should be replaced by new. If times were better, there are so many needs that might be filled that little nagging pain calls for a trip to the doctor, the long postponed visit to the dentist would be made, eye glasses need changing. Business deals would revive, more homes would be bought, commercial travellers would fill their order books, new enterprises would be launched, and factories would be working overtime. Grocers would find the public ready to buy according to desire rather than economy. There would be a reader, larger market for everything. Those who are unemployed would be absorbed into the working ranks and transformed from liabilities into powerful assets.

Supposing the miracle could be brought about, what a lift it would give to the general happiness of mankind. Is there no man or group of men great enough or strong enough to accomplish this?

HITCH HIKING

There is quite an amount of hitch-hiking in connection with the horse sales which have been held in High River from year to year. That is to say a good many sales are made outside the organization, after the buyers have been attracted by advertising and all arrangements have been made. Many are able to take advantage of the holding of the sale without paying entry fee or carrying any burden of association. They ride in under the power of the advertised sale. No doubt there is little, if any intention of seizing the advantage of the buyers' presence, through efforts of others. No doubt many who make sales independent of the organization do so without considering that they are taking advantage. But the fact does remain that these sellers do benefit by the assembled buyers without assisting in bringing them to the scene. This has been noticeable not only at the Community Sale of this year, but at the Agricultural Society sales of other years. And in the majority of instances according to report, the prices obtained have been no better than if the animals had been entered and sold under the management.

It is not a particularly serious matter, except that the strength of a sale is in proportion to local support. As a matter of fact this year, the demand was such that twice as many horses might have been disposed of than were, and an advertised sale of twice as many horses would have no doubt increased the number of buyers and the power of the organization. There is additional strength and influence in any project which has 100 per cent. backing by the community, and if intending sellers in the future would enter their horses in the organized sale, they would give confidence to the management, add to the power of the sale and have the knowledge that they were carrying their share in a worthwhile community project.

COMMON CONDITION

It is reported that the little village of Leavitt has actually lost 1300 people from its population during the last thirty years. This simply means that the growing population, the youngsters of the community have had to go out from home to obtain employment or an occupation elsewhere. The total population of Leavitt has been practically the same as it is today for the last thirty years, namely at about 200 souls. To think of the loss to this one community of all its young manhood and womanhood year after year going into other towns and districts for a livelihood is a very serious matter. More serious still does it become when you realize that the history of Leavitt in this particular is the history of every other community including Cardston in the whole countryside.

Furthermore, it is the history of Canada. This country for years has been educating its young people only to lose them to United States and other parts of the world where they have gone to get employment and engage in industry. Never before, until the terrible effects of this depression rest so heavily upon us, have we been able to get people to see the economic folly of forcing our young people to seek employment elsewhere. Right in Cardston and the surrounding countryside, more than 1,000 young people are going to be through school and ready to enter industrial life within the next five years, and if we do not something about it we are going to lose these 1,000 young people. And they are fine young people too. Bright, keenly alert, capable fellows for the most part, and young women, the superior of whom cannot be found in any land. What are we going to do for them, beside educate them? Are we going to drift along as usual and lose them all as the years go by?

The point is that by concerted effort something really might be done about this problem. Some industry or factory could be started right in Cardston which would absorb a good share of the young people of the town. Capital seems to be the main need in establishing a number of such industries as might prosper in this community. Surely there are 40 or 50 men in the town who could find from $100 to $500 each toward some community project which would be the nucleus of an industrial expansion here which would solve the unemployment problem permanently in this community. Already, we understand, some committee work is being done along this project, and we are heartily behind such a move.

Let every person interested think the matter over, and by united action this matter can be settled in every part of the district, for the people of Leavitt can establish a cannery, of Glenwood a cannery, of Mountain View some other industry, and so on in every section there can be some construction project undertaken which will solve the situation.—Cardston News.

ROMANCE OF DAILY NEWSPAPER

S. E. Thomason, publisher of the Chicago Illustrated Times, says "Romantic is the simple act of reading a newspaper; Only a short time ago this sheet of white paper was in another form of life. It was part of a spruce or balsam tree—flying its green arms in the white silence of a north country. The woodsman's axe meant not death but new life to that tree. It meant that the tree was to become part of your life, that it was to bear the urgent news of the world to your doorstep. That tree was to know the big 'barking' drums that tear logs into shreds. It was to whirl along in the wide white wet ribbon of paper in the paper-making machine; some day to hear the roar of newspaper presses in the heart of the newspaper building. Before this newspaper got into those presses it had felt the molten heat of the stereotype chamber, the steam of the matrix table; it had scuttled through the stamp-bang, bustle of composing and engraving and editorial rooms.

"The newspaper is the brain-child of a small army of news-hungry men and women who have in many cases suffered hardship and labored long that their reportings may be placed before you on this sheet of paper.

"Be as unworldly as a child for a moment—focus your eyes and powers beyond the surface of this newspaper. Picture in your mind the trees and the ships and the freight cars and the presses—vision the faces of newspaper men and women, etched sometimes with fatigue, ablaze with the fire of a purpose.

"Let your imagination be your companion as you read your newspaper and you'll never know boredom. Wouldn't life today be a dull business without the newspaper? It's thrilling business to both of us—to you in the reading, and to us in the publishing!" —Lethbridge Herald.

A E CROSS DIES PIONEER RANCHER

One of Most Noted Alberta Ranchers and Business Man Succumbs in Montreal

Following an operation in Montreal, A. E. Cross of Calgary died in Montreal General Hospital on Thursday, March 10. Funeral services were held at the Pro Cathedral, Calgary, on Monday afternoon and in the immense cathedral were assembled friends and companions from every walk of life, who mourned the passing of one of Alberta's most prominent citizens. Mr. Cross, though a citizen of Calgary, had interests in so many parts of Alberta that many districts consider him "one of theirs." His interests were so varied, as to include almost every element of provincial activity, and the loss of his virile energetic presence will be felt for many years to come.

A. E. Cross was born in Montreal in 1861, a son of Hon Alexander Cross, judge of the Queen's bench. Educated in Montreal and England, he also took courses at the Ontario Agricultural College and Montreal Veterinary College. In 1884 he came to Calgary as bookkeeper of the British American Horse Ranch syndicate. But he at once responded to the call of ranch life, and started for himself by homesteading on Mosquito Creek near Nanton. This acreage was increased until it became one of the largest ranches in the province.

In 1899, he married Miss Macleod, daughter of Col. James A. Macleod and in the same year he was elected as Conservative member to the N.W. T. legislature. In 1892 he launched the Calgary Breeding Company after preparing for this by a thorough study of the breeding business. In 1907 he was made president of the Calgary Board of Trade and was a director of the Alberta Exhibition Association almost from its foundation. When the Calgary Stampede was launched in 1912, the "Big Four" who were largely responsible for its success were P. Burns, A. J. McLean, A. E. Cross and the late George Lane.

Amongst other organizations in which he was director or prominent member, were the Can. Manufacturer's Association, the Western Brewer's Association, General Hospital, Calgary, Western Stock Growers' Association, Royal Trust Company, Western Canada Game Protective Association.

From these vastly different associations may be gathered the wide scope of his interests. Anything which encouraged good sport and the protection of wild life, or the development of wholesome western outdoor living received his active support, and his charities were infinite.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, James, Alexander and John and two daughters, Mary and Margaret.

The Milo United Ladies Aid held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Phillips on Wednesday, March 2nd. Their next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Deitz on April 6th.

Several young people of Milo gave a surprise party on Margaret and Robert Thomas last Friday evening. Dancing was the order of the evening until the wee hours of the morning.

Mrs. N. M. St. Peter, Mrs. H. B. Nelson, Mrs. C. D. Sutton, Mrs. C. W. Watt and Miss Alberta Peterson motored to Calgary last week. The roads being very bad made them experience considerable difficulty on the way.

Instructions have been received from the Postal Department by the postmaster of Lake McGregor, that on and after 1st March that post office will be closed on account of the very small revenue derived from it during the last fiscal year. Former patrons of the Lake McGregor post office are now taking their mail from Milo. Mr. C. J. Northcott has been post master for the past sixteen and a half years and also mail carrier for the past six and a half years.

LOMOND NEWS

Mrs. Harry Asseltine will be hostess for the April meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clements from Carmangay was over for the Masonic evening.

Pyramid Masonic Lodge entertained their wives and families to a social evening. Court whist was played with the following winners: Mrs. E. M. Benson, lady's first; Mrs. J. Martin, low; Mrs. E. W. Frost, first; Mr. N. H. Hanna, low. A short program was then staged. After lunch dancing was indulged to the small hours.

An interesting meeting of the Lomond United Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. L. Herman three miles west of town. Mrs. J. H. Williamson conducted the business in a very capable manner. The ladies are planning a social evening on March 24th in the community hall where all will be made welcome. Mrs. D. A. Allred is arranging a program. There will be a candy booth, also a sewing booth. Lunch will be served at the close of the evening. Mrs. Tompkins sang a solo. The hostess served delightful refreshments which brought a pleasant and profitable afternoon to a close.

The opera "Gypsy Rover" was presented in the Lomond community hall on March 4 and 5 to well filled houses. The play was well presented. All special numbers received a hearty encore. Costumes and lighting arrangements were gorgeous. The leading artists were Mrs. D. A. Allred, soprano, as Lady Constance; J. Matheson, tenor, as Rob; Mrs. J. H. Williamson, contralto, as Meg; Lola Andrews, soprano, as Zana; L. M. Johnson as Lord Craven; Harry Erskine as Sir G. Martindale; Mrs. C. W. Tompkins, soprano, as Nina; Monte Findlay as Captain Jerome; K. Wates as Sir T. Lyons; McCorkle, N. H. Hanna; J. Hedges as Sinfo, and A. Erskine as Marte, brought down the house with laughter. A request for a third performance was given on March 8th to a very enthusiastic audience. Great credit is due D. A. Allred for his untiring effort in producing this operetta. Mr. R. F. Frost was the accompanist. Mrs. J. Chapman gave a reading which was very heartily endorsed.

Vulcan H.S. vs. Stavley

Allan Marshall put his team ahead by going through the Stavley defence to score unassisted. Vulcan was one up when the gong sounded.

The third period saw Vulcan scoreless while Rea added two for Stavley both unassisted, the last two minutes of play. Vulcan had more than their share of play but Derochie and Flanagan with Allan in goal, played puck tight defence, while Rea seemed to be just where he should be to make the most of every opening. The score standing 5-4, Stavley getting the odd goal. The game was well handled by Glen Bouygon, two minutes being the minimum penalty. It was a case of play hockey or keep off the ice. The Vulcan boys were more than satisfied. The one feature of the series to be noted is that the Vulcan High School boys can hold their own with the average intermediate team and should next year be able to handle any team in the foothills' league.

The teams for both games were: Vulcan—Robson; Jamieson, Schenck (Kaiser at Vulcan only); Allan and Bob Marshall; Ferguson, Woodward, King, Pritchard and Ottewill.

Stavley—A. Allan; Derochie and Flanagan; Rea, Bob and Louis Doyle Willis, Free, Ferris and Bouygon.

CHAMPIONS TWO YEARS RUNNING

This is the story of a great comeback, a long uphill battle and a final smashing victory that clinched a title for the second year in succession. Canadian Pacific Railway hockey team won the Railway-Telephone League championship in 1931, but this season it looked like a washout at the start for the title holders went down to defeat in the first three games and fans of little faith were predicting the cellar position. Then the comeback started. Little by little the team fought its way upward, until it ended top of the heap. It was hard work, uphill work, but they never faltered until they were top of the league. As the leaders, they had the bye and the second and third teams fought it out for the right to meet them. Canadian Nationals came through against Bell Telephone and the play-offs were on, two games with goals to count. The first game was a one-goal each tie. The second and decider was Canadian Pacific all the way, with a four to nothing victory and five goals to one on the round. Thirteen thousand roaring fans cheered them on to the victory, the largest crowd at an amateur game, ever gathered together at the Forum, Montreal.

The lay-out shows the team and officials. Back row left to right, Don Smith (coach); Ken Grant, Dr. Page; P. M. Raymond; Roger Gaudette; W. F. Kirkpatrick; F. J. Sullivan; P. A. Miller; A. Alexandre (now with Canadians); H. Vennor; W. Mullin; J. J. Gervais; Geo. Gravel; L. Plon; R.

CANADIAN - U.S.A CUSTOMS UNION

American Letter to Pres. Hoover Urges Return to Commercial Friendship With Canada

Establishment of a customs union between the United States and Canada, was urged by Representative Celler in a letter to President Hoover in which he declared that while increased trade between the two nations would not wholly solve the economic difficulties of today nevertheless it would appreciably improve conditions. Submitting figures showing the decline in imports and exports of the United States with Canada by months since the beginning of 1929, Representative Celler declared "we have unquestionably come to a parting of the way. We must determine whether high tariff walls shall isolate us permanently from Canadian markets or whether we shall lower these walls and again become good commercial friends."

"Your distinguished predecessor, the late William Howard Taft, in his annual message to Congress of December 6, 1910, and also in his special message of January 16, 1911, voiced sentiments and observations relative to reciprocity with Canada which are just as potent today as when they were first uttered."

"Unfortunately, the far-seeing efforts of President Taft proved unavailing and the trade and commercial breach between Canada and the United States has widened ever since. We have built our tariff walls higher and higher, and the Canadians have responded in kind. Thus we stand behind our high tariff walls with folded arms while Canada stands behind hers and thumbs her nose at us. Meanwhile, business comes to a stand still."

"May I not therefore, Mr. President, prevail upon you to open negotiations to the end that there may be adopted between this country and Canada a sort of Zollverein or customs union, so that the reciprocity agitated for so long a period may become finally a reality."—Sanitary Engineer, U.S.A.

GRADED BEEF HELPS PRICES

Market in Britain and Demand for Label Beef Has Kept Market from Ruin

"While largely a period of disappointing prices for the various classes of livestock, the past year was not without some compensating features, particularly in respect to the reception given to the better grades of stock at practically every market session. It is apparent that of the major branches of the agricultural industry, commercial meat animal production fared better than any other. The two sustaining factors in the market for cattle were the renewal and expansion of export trade with Great Britain, facilitated by an unusually long run of grain-fed cattle; and the comparatively strong increase in the demand for Blue Brand and Red Brand beef, in all provinces where this class of meat, officially guaranteed as of good to choice quality, is being handled by the trade, in response to consumer appreciation."—The Economic Annalist.

A PRAYER

(Lines 200 years old, found in Old Chester Cathedral, England)

Give me a good digestion, Lord
And likewise something to digest;
Give me a healthy body, Lord,
With sense to keep it at its best;
Give me a healthy mind, good Lord,
To keep the good and pure in sight,
That seeing sin, is not appalled,
But finds a way to make it right.

Give me a mind that is not bound
That does not whimper, whine or sigh.

Let me not worry overmuch
About the fussy thing called "I"
Give me a sense of humor, Lord,
Give me the grace to see a joke;
To find some happiness in life,
And pass it on to other folk.

Some folks are dragging Canada in to the Lindbergh kidnapping by saying the plot originated in Vancouver, before the child was born.

MR G N GORDON ADMONISHED

False and Unfortunate Assertions Too Frequent in This Man's History

Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterboro, has the faculty when delivering political addresses for saying the offensive thing and some of his utterances the other day were the subject of parliamentary investigation. Premier Bennett regarded them as a reflection on his honor and probity as a public man. The result was that Mr. Gordon had to come down the ladder head first pleading that he had been misreported. It is not the first time that Mr. Gordon has given offence. When being mildly reproved several years ago by a prominent weekly newspaper he referred to it as a one-horse weekly and to the editor of another as "a squirtgun editor." The jibes did not come with very good grace from one who in his own profession is not within measurable distance of the front ranks. It is quite a safe guess that Mr. Gordon's public life is now in jeopardy and his retirement voluntary or enforced will not be regarded as a calamity.—Exchange.

GIVING ALL TO SATISFY DEBTS

Instances of Straits of Some Ontario Farms; Stripped of Resources to Pay Debts

....All the troubles are not in the West as shown by certain cases specified in the Toronto Star. These instances of financial difficulties have been taken from a most thriving area of Ontario, and are told in the Star.

In one case a merchant insisted on being paid $6 by a Lincoln farmer and this man sold his only horse for that sum and paid the debt.

In North Grimsby a man was presented with his tax bill and payment was demanded. He sold practically all the furniture in the house and paid the taxes.

A farmer had a herd of fourteen goats, but was short of fodder. The humane Society, very careful of all animals with four feet, warned him that the goats must be kept fed and happy. A man to whom $15 was owed came along demanding payment and the farmer turned over to him his herd of goats.

A farmer and his son drove their old car to Hamilton market with butter and eggs which they sold for $10. They got a summons demanding $15 for having defective brakes and sold the car to pay the fine.

Ben Hyslop of St. Ann's informed the Star representative that in 1914 the tax on his farm was $13. Last year his tax bill was $187.

The significance of some of these transactions will not be lost on our readers. Farmers and others are being pressed for payments they cannot make without parting with the only means whereby they live. Should a farmer, at a time like this, be made to strip his humble home of its furniture to pay his taxes? It is very well for a city magistrate to hand out $15 fines to motorists, but in times like these surely magistrates should inquire and learn something about circumstances wherein a fifteen dollar fine amounts almost to a death sentence.

Why arrange a moratorium in large matters and allow ruthless procedure to wreck homes in connection with little debts?

Legal rights and lawful procedure are too cast-iron and inhuman for times like these and need to have injected into them a little Christian charity or social commonsense.

Sugar beets at $5. a ton and wheat at 67c; when wheat was $1.50 a bushel, sugar beets brought $7. per ton.

The Saskatchewan government was sustained by a majority of four on the budget vote.

Municipally-owned undertakings parlor are favored in a report presented by Alex. Ross at the Legislature.

Ontario budget has provided for $2,500,000 as direct relief for unemployment.
